Anna Atkins was a Victorian botanist and photographer. She was the first person to publish a book illustrated with photographic images. Her cyanotypes used light exposure and a simple chemical process to create impressively detailed blueprints of botanical specimens.

Sun Gardens Cyanotypes by Anna Atkins

Anna Atkins, 1799–1871, came of age in Victorian England, a particularly fertile environment for learning and scientific discovery. Guided by her father, a prominent scientist, Atkins was inspired by William Henry Fox Talbot to take up photography and was friends with Sir John Herschel, who invented the cyanotype photographic process in 1842.
